Programme Summary/Details: The report outlines the one-day Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Universal Human Values organized by the Electrical Engineering Department of VIVA Institute of Technology on 28th June 2019. The program was aimed at sensitizing faculty members toward the importance of human values and their integration into the academic curriculum. Mr. Anojkumar Yadav, an expert in human values, conducted the program, and he highlighted the significance of values like integrity, honesty, respect, compassion, and empathy.

The program emphasized the need for a holistic approach to education, focusing on the overall development of the individual, beyond the academic curriculum. Inculcating universal human values in students helps in developing responsible citizens who contribute positively to society. The program witnessed active participation from faculty members, who engaged in discussions, group activities, and interactive sessions. The program received positive feedback from participants, who expressed their appreciation towards the organizers and the trainer for providing them with valuable learning experiences. The report concludes that the FDP was an excellent initiative by the Electrical Engineering Department of VIVA Institute of Technology, and such programs are essential for the holistic development of students and faculty members.
